ACADEMIC PROJECTS

Wild Animal Intrusion Detection

- The project addresses the issue of wild animals entering human areas and causing damage.
- It uses a Raspberry Pi system integrated with a PIR (Passive Infrared) motion sensor to detect animal movement.
- When motion is detected, the camera is automatically activated to capture images of the animal.
- The captured images are sent to an Android application to notify the user immediately.
- A deterrent light is triggered at the same time to scare the animal away and prevent further intrusion.

TRAVELEASE, Travel Agency Website

- Developed a responsive travel booking website using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and Bootstrap.
- Designed and implemented pages for tour packages, destinations, and image galleries.
- Integrated EmailJS to enable users to send inquiries directly through the contact form.
- Created an interactive and user-friendly interface with responsive design.
